

FLAT-LINED IN BARBOUR COUNTY, WV

The Barbour County, West Virginia, Commission has flatlined and desperately needs emergency attention to revive it. The current County Commission seems to be a rubber stamping, a secret society that excludes or ignores the real needs of Barbour County citizens. One has to be clueless and corrupt to operate in survival mode in Commission Chambers. My choice for the person to supply the needed emergency aid is Commissioner Candidate Cindy Hart of Belington, Barbour County, WV. She has a strong background as being an Effective Leader, and that is what we all need.

Cindy and her husband Mike have three sons, and 7 grandchildren. With 35 years of experience as being a public servant, Cindy Hart has learned what it takes to revive and move Barbour County towards a positive future. Cindy Hart knows the residents of Barbour County. She has run our back roads, sat in our living rooms, educated us, carried us to safety, driven us to health care, breathed life into our lungs, stopped the bleeding, and saved our lives. There is no one more qualified to do the same for our government from a seat on the Barbour County Commission.

As Commissioner, Cindy Hart's vision for Barbour County is a place where people from the entire county can feel that they have a voice. She plans to establish a county-wide communication network to gather input and to listen to the concerns and ideas from every community in the county, big or small. She believes that the people who know what's best for Barbour County are the people of Barbour County!

The second part of Cindy's vision is to develop a County governing system of accountability - no more back-room deals, misappropriation of funds, self-serving or using the county and its resources to obtain votes. Cindy believes that transparency and a system of continuous accountability will encourage citizens to participate and collaborate in the decision-making of the County's business, and that will establish County priorities-priorities such as opioid drug problems, county infrastructure (roads, water project development and maintenance, internet service and cellular service) to ALL of Barbour County. She WILL accomplish these tasks by building on the ideas and needs of Barbour County citizens and not on their backs, Cindy hopes to breathe life into Barbour County and stop the bleeding from County government.

She is the person that will have a positive impact on the county's needs.

Cindy Hart has developed the temperament, through her experience as an active, effective leader in Public Safety to see her vision for Barbour County become a reality. Her unassuming and non-judgemental manner invites the every citizen to speak up and be heard. Her take-command posture helps her to manage even the most difficult of opposition to her vision. She makes split-second decisions that affect our safety and wellbeing and does this with the grace and charm of a professional. Cindy is kindhearted, but please don't take her kindness as a weakness, she will not tolerate bullying or any type of discrimination. She is the type of leader that others strive to become, but fall short, because of her dedication to excellence.

Cindy has received many accolades in her professional service and has vowed to use the contacts made, at the local, state and federal levels, to make Barbour County a better place for all of us to live in and thrive.
